

Sept 2, 11:50 am: Isro sets date for Aditya-L1 launch

Solar mission spacecraft aims to provide remote observations of solar corona

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Bengaluru, 28 August

After the successful Chandrayaan-3 mission to the moon, the Indian Space Research Organisation (Isro) on Monday said India's first solar mission Aditya-L1 to study the sun would be launched on September 2 at 11:50 am from Sriharikota.

Aditya-L1 spacecraft is designed to provide remote observations of the solar corona and in-situ observations of the solar wind at L1 (Sun-Earth Lagrange point), which is about 1.5 million kilometres from the Earth. Lagrange Points are positions in space where the gravitational forces of the sun and the earth produce enhanced regions of attraction and repulsion. According to Nasa (National Aeronautics and Space Administration), these can be used by spacecraft to reduce fuel consumption needed to remain in position.

The space agency said in a social media post that the spacecraft — the first space-based Indian observatory to study the sun — would be launched using a PSLV-C57 rocket. The mission, aimed at studying the sun from an orbit around the L1, would carry seven payloads to observe the photosphere, chromosphere and the corona — the outermost layers of the Sun — in different wavebands. Aditya-L1 is a fully indigenous effort with the participation of national institutions, an Isro official said.

Indian Institute of Astrophysics (IIA) is the lead institute for the development of Visible Emission Line Coronagraph (VELC) payload while Inter-University Centre for Astronomy and Astrophysics has developed the Solar Ultraviolet Imaging Telescope payload for the mission. VELC aims to collect the data for solving how the temperature of the corona can reach about a million degrees while the sun's surface stays just over 6000 degrees Centigrade.

PRAGYAN PASSES FIRST LUNAR TEST

Chandrayaan-3 mission's rover "Pragyan" came across a four-metre diameter crater (pictured left) just ahead of its location on the lunar surface before it was commanded to retrace its path (pictured right), Isro said on Monday. It is now safely heading on a new path, the Bengaluru-headquartered national space agency said in a social media post. Isro said that on August 27 the rover came across the crater that was three metres ahead of its location. "The rover was commanded to retrace the path," it added, following which it is headed on a new path.

Buoyed by Chandrayaan-3 success, Skyroot to double rocket launches

Skyroot Aerospace, which launched India's first private rocket in 2022, aims to double its planned launches starting next year on a likely boost to the country's fledgling private space sector from the success of the Chandrayaan-3 moon mission. The Hyderabad-based company, backed by Singapore's sovereign wealth fund, GIC, is also aiming to raise more money by the end of next year, co-founder Pawan Kumar Chandana told Reuters in an interview. "From 2024 and later, we're looking at at least two launches per year and will probably ramp up as we move further," said Chandana, whose company is set to send its second rocket to space by the end of the year.

Embraer launches campaign for transport aircraft to IAF

AIAI SHUKLA
New Delhi, 28 August

Two months after Prime Minister Narendra Modi met Brazilian President Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva at the Group of Seven Summit in Hiroshima, Brazil has made a strong pitch for providing India with medium transport aircraft (MTA), for which the Indian Air Force (IAF) has issued a global tender.

Launching its MTA campaign in New Delhi on Monday, Brazil's state-owned aerospace company, Empresa Brasileira de Aeronáutica S.A. (Embraer S.A. or Brazilian Aeronautics Corporation), briefed the press on the capabilities of its C-390 Millennium cargo lifter, which Embraer executives claimed made it ideal for the IAF.

"An Embraer C-390 Millennium Day will be held in New Delhi on August 29. This event seeks to deepen engagement with the aerospace and defence industry in India and provide more information on Embraer's suite of defence and security products and solutions, in particular, the C-390 Millennium," the company announced on Tuesday.

Embraer's C-390 Millennium MTA was first pressed into operational service in the Força Aérea Brasileira (FAB, or Brazilian Air Force) in 2019. The FAB flies 19 Millennium aircraft in its fleet. Besides these, the Portuguese Air Force flies five C-390 Millennium aircraft, Hungary flies two, and the Netherlands flies five, with additional deliveries on the way.

The IAF is regarded as deficient in medium cargo airlift capabilities. It flies a 11 aircraft fleet of C-17 Globemaster III, a very heavy lift aircraft that can carry 77 tonnes of mixed cargo. On the way out is India's fleet of 27 Ilyushin Il-76 heavy transport aircraft, which have a payload capacity of more than 40 tonnes.

In the tactical airlifter category, the IAF has roughly 100 Antonov An-32 aircraft, which can carry either 7.5 tonnes of cargo, 50 passengers, 42 paratroopers, or 24 patients and three medical crew.

The IAF is also in the process of acquiring 56 C-295 tactical airlifters from Airbus Defence and Space, which can carry 9 tonnes of payload or up to 71 personnel, at a maximum cruise speed of 260 knots (480 kilometre per hour).

Embraer hopes the C-390 Millennium can fill the gap between the heavy C-17 Globemaster III and the light Airbus C-295. The Brazilian aircraft can carry a load of 26 tonnes, placing it in the MTA category — with the ability to airlift 18-30 tonnes of cargo. It can be configured to perform various roles such as troops, VIP, and cargo transportation, as well as the more specialised logistical operation of an aerial refuelling tanker.

Alternatively, the C-390 Millennium can carry a payload of two fully-tracked M-113 armoured personnel carriers, one Boxer armoured vehicle, up to 80 soldiers or 66 paratroopers with full gear, or a Sikorsky H-60 helicopter kitted up with 74 litters with life-support equipment.

In response to the IAF's tender, vendor companies are required to provide the rough order of magnitude cost of the aircraft. Costing is required to be carried out for three separate batches of aircraft: 40 aircraft, 60 aircraft, and 80 aircraft, respectively.

Bidding companies are required to submit offers following a 'single stage two-bid system'. Each vendor must present a request for proposal (RFP) that includes technical and commercial offers together but in two separate sealed envelopes. The commercial offers must be valid for at least 18 months.

The technical offers will be evaluated by a technical evaluation committee (TEC) to verify their compliance with the RFP.

Vendors whose equipment has been cleared by the TEC would also undergo trial evaluation in India on a 'no cost, no commitment' basis. Staff evaluation would be carried out by service headquarters to analyse the results of the field evaluation and shortlist the equipment for introduction into service.

Finally, a contract negotiation committee will decide the lowest cost bidder (L1) from among the vendors cleared by general staff evaluation.

Deliveries of the MTA are required to commence within 36 months of signing a contract.

CRISIL SME TRACKER

Steel MSMEs get an India build-out lift

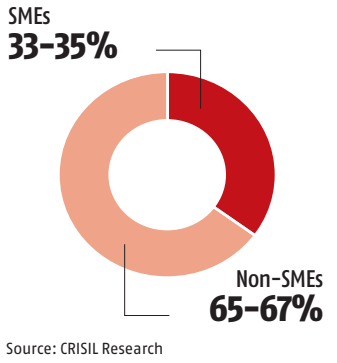

Micro, small, and medium enterprises (MSMEs) in the steel sector are poised for rapid growth on the back of robust demand from the infrastructure and building and construction segments.

An upswing in infrastructure spending, coupled with the government's push to achieve multiple project targets ahead of the general elections in 2024, is driving this demand.

MSMEs in the steel sector mostly manufacture long steel products such as rebars and wire rods using induction-based furnaces and raw materials such as steel scrap and sponge iron.

Most of the sponge iron players import low-ash thermal coal to produce sponge iron. Hence, thermal coal has a material bearing on sponge iron prices. The European energy crisis on account of the Russia-Ukraine conflict had pushed thermal coal prices to record levels last fiscal. With the energy situation improving, prices have begun cooling. Sponge iron prices have followed a similar trend, mirroring the prices of South African-origin thermal coal.

SHARE OF MSMEs IN STEEL PRODUCTION

SMEs constitute 33-35 per cent of India's crude steel capacity. They increased capacity by a significant 11 per cent on-year last fiscal.

This fiscal, healthy domestic demand, along with declining raw material prices, will keep their profit margins positive and utilisation levels high. However, next fiscal, as spending and the pace of project execution decline due to state and central government elections, demand is expected to fall.

An increase in operational capacity and the slump in demand next fiscal will prompt market players to offer products at competitive prices. Consequently, their margins may shrink.

Reduced steel price volatility will enable steel rollers and traders to attain improved margin visibility. Inventory levels and working capital will also be healthy. However, higher capital rates and inflationary pressures will increase operational costs.
